*The world is moving so fast these days that the person who says
'it can't be done'
is generally interrupted by some doing it.*

Reflection

It hurts to have prepared a meal for someone who does not turn up. Meals, however simple are a very human way of showing and sharing love. Meals feature throughout the story of salvation and find their fulfilment in the heavenly banquet, where God Himself is the food of mere mortals. Having swallowed up death in the sacrifice of His own Body He has left us the living memorial of His love in the Body and Blood of the Eucharist. Why would we refuse to come to Him and do all we can to receive Him a taste of heaven on earth, worthily?
