IT'S LENT: BE PRESENT!

Dear [Name of Invitee]:

I'm writing to you with a heart full of love and a deep sense of longing. It's been a while since we've seen you at church, and your absence has been deeply felt. As a fellow believer and friend, I wanted to take a moment to invite you back home.

To be honest, it's not the same without you. The pews feel emptier, the hymns less sweet, and the community less whole. But it's not just about numbers or tradition; it's about you. It's about the unique gifts, talents, and perspectives you bring to our church family.

As someone who cares deeply about you, I've been praying for you, wondering how you're doing, and hoping that you'll find your way back to us. I know life can get busy, and distractions can pile up, but I want you to know that you're not just a member of our church; you're a vital part of our family.

I'm not here to judge or criticize; I'm here to invite you back with open arms. I want to assure you that there are no hidden agendas, no ulterior motives, and no expectations other than to see you thrive in your faith and walk with God.

Your presence matters, and your absence is felt. We miss your smile, your energy, and your heart. But more than that, I believe that you are missing out on the richness of community, the support of brothers and sisters in Christ, and the opportunity to grow in your faith.

So, I'm extending a personal invitation to you to come back home. Let's catch up, let's worship together, and let's journey together in faith. You're not alone, and you're not forgotten.

If there's anything holding you back, please know that we're here to listen, to support, and to help in any way we can. Our doors are open, and our hearts are ready to receive you.

Looking forward to seeing you soon!

With every good wish,
